Hi Adrian,

I am in NYC for work and had an unexpected conflict. Sorry I could not make your call. I thought I emailed you through the calendar, but realized that you are not on the invite, only Alyssa was. My apologies.

A quick update - we discussed your feedback at length and we are taking the time to figure out how best to address. Nothing new to report at this time. We will keep you posted.

Alyssa, please reschedule. Thanks.

Sell your subscriptions the way you want to

Increased flexibility

- Create customized offers across the subscription lifecycle
- Determine user eligibility however you'd like
- Unlock new markets with prepaid plans and top-ups

Decreased complexity

- Create multiple offers per subscription - no need for redundant SKUs
- Reduce the need for app updates by using offer tags
- Change prices without affecting existing subscriptions

The foundation: selling a subscription in multiple ways

We're separating what is purchased, from how it's purchased

Today: simulate offers by creating mostly-redundant SKUs. Difficult to implement and scale.

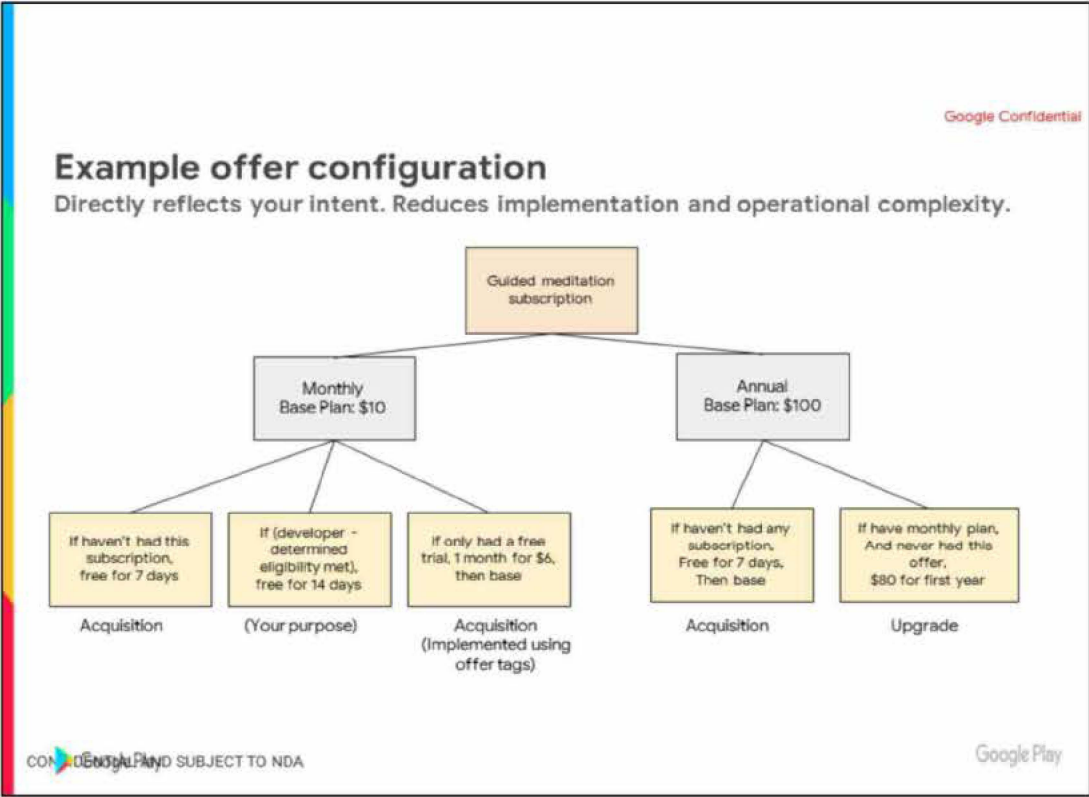

New: each subscription can have multiple base plans and offers

Offers in Play Console

Simple, scalable workflow

- Create multiple base plans and offers per subscription
- Activate and deactivate offers as desired
- Create region-specific offers
- When changing prices, optionally keep existing subscribers at the current price

The screenshot displays the 'Add offer' form in the Google Play Console. The form is divided into several sections: 'Offer details', 'Offer settings', and 'Phases'. The 'Offer details' section includes fields for 'Offer name', 'Offer ID', 'Offer type', 'Offer status', 'Offer start date', 'Offer end date', 'Offer price', and 'Offer currency'. The 'Offer settings' section includes checkboxes for 'Offer is active' and 'Offer is available in all regions'. The 'Phases' section shows a table with columns for 'Phase' and 'Status'.

Phase	Status
Initial	Active
Renewal	Active

Flexible user eligibility, flexible pricing

Subscription offers support a wide range of offer strategies

- 1 Upgrade and retention offers
Configure eligibility based on user's current subscription, base plan, and paid duration
- 2 Multiple free trials
Choose when to provide users with additional free trials or intro prices
- 3 Country-level offer availability
Supports regional offer types and local preferences
- 4 Prepaid plans and top-ups
Unlock regions where pay-as-you-go is standard. Provides an alternative to auto-renewing
- 5 Developer-determined eligibility
In addition to Play-determined eligibility, you can choose your own eligibility logic

Graceful transition for existing developers

- The new Subscription Platform APIs will become publicly available later this year (PBL 5.0)
- Available now as EAP
 - Play would need to allowlist developer account IDs and Google Cloud Platform project IDs (for backend APIs) for access
- Backwards compatibility means minimal effort is required day one
- Existing SKUs are automatically migrated
- Developer can adopt new features as desired
- Functionality provided via natural extensions of the existing subscription publishing and purchase APIs
